

VACCINES & AUTISM: what EVERY parent should know

Rates of autism have increased in line with the vaccine schedule.
In the 1980s, autism was so rare it wasn't even tracked.

In 1986, pharmaceutical companies received complete federal protection from vaccine injury and death lawsuits. This spawned a huge increase in the childhood vaccine schedule. Coincidence?!!

Known neurotoxins in vaccines — including aluminum and mercury among others — are linked to the same developmental and neurological delays as seen with Autism in published scientific studies. These issues were seen even in tiny doses.

Think the increase is because more doctors are recognizing it? Not according to a 2006 study from John Hopkins, which stated: only 8% of pediatricians routinely screened for autism.

Vaccines are highly profitable. Pharma is pushing mandatory vaccination laws — please get involved!
